

FTSE Russell Equity Index Reviews March 2020

13 March 2020

---

The current market conditions have prompted certain index users and other index stakeholders to query whether the March reviews of FTSE Russell indices should proceed as previously announced. FTSE Russell has given very careful consideration to these views and has undertaken a detailed assessment of the risks of both proceeding with the index rebalances and of cancelling all of the index rebalances that were due to be effective in March.

Following this assessment, FTSE Russell has determined to proceed with the index reviews as previously announced. However, we continue to monitor the situation and invite index users to provide feedback as the situation evolves.
